

Form 5500 Schedule C Disclosure for Mutual Fund Series of DoubleLine Funds Trust

DoubleLine Capital LP and, with respect to DoubleLine Multi-Asset Trend Fund, DoubleLine Strategic Commodity Fund, DoubleLine Shiller Enhanced CAPE® and DoubleLine Real Estate and Income Fund, DoubleLine Alternatives LP (each an “Adviser” and collectively the “Advisers”) provide this disclosure document to assist plan administrators in completing Form 5500 Schedule C (Service Provider Information) for investments in series of DoubleLine Funds Trust, a Delaware statutory trust (each series, a “Fund,” and all series collectively, the “Funds”). The document contains information regarding eligible indirect compensation received by the Advisers and others from the Funds.

Eligible indirect compensation is defined as indirect compensation, including, for example: (i) fees or expense reimbursement payments charged to investment funds and reflected in the value of the investment or return on investment of the participating plan or its participants (e.g., mutual fund expense ratios), (ii) “soft dollar” revenue, (iii) float revenue, and (iv) brokerage commissions or other transaction-based fees for transactions or services involving the plan that were not paid directly by the plan or plan sponsor. Form 5500 Schedule C provides a simplified “alternative reporting option” for eligible indirect compensation paid to a service provider if (i) the only compensation paid to a service provider is eligible indirect compensation, and (ii) the plan administrator receives the “required written disclosure.” Required written disclosure consists of written materials that describe the existence of indirect compensation, the services provided for (or the purpose of) the indirect compensation, the actual or estimated amount of the indirect compensation or the formula used to calculate the amount and the identity of the party or parties paying and receiving the indirect compensation. This document provides information intended to comply with the foregoing disclosure requirements and to enable plan sponsors to take advantage of the alternative reporting option.

The alternative reporting option requires plan sponsors to report the name and address of each service provider and the name and address of the person or entity providing the required written disclosures. Under the alternative reporting option, the plan sponsor is not required to report the information contained in the written disclosures. For these purposes, the identifying information of the Advisers is as follows:

2002 North Tampa Street, Suite 200

Research and Other Services / “Soft Dollar” Arrangements

As permitted by Section 28(e) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended (the “Exchange Act”), each Adviser may, on behalf of a client, pay a broker or dealer, including those acting in the capacity of a futures commission merchant, that provides “brokerage and research services” (as defined in the Exchange Act) to the Adviser an amount of commission for effecting a portfolio investment transaction in excess of the amount of commission that another broker or dealer would have charged for effecting that transaction, if the Adviser determines in good faith that such amount of commission was reasonable in relation to the value of the brokerage and research services provided by such broker or dealer, viewed in terms of either that particular transaction or the Adviser’s overall responsibilities to the client and to other client accounts over which the Adviser exercises investment discretion. Such research services include proprietary research created internally by a broker or by a third-party provider (and made available to an Adviser by a broker) such as, for example, individual stock information and research, industry and sector analysis, trend analysis and forecasting, discussions with individual stock analysts, and meetings arranged with various sources of information regarding particular issuers, industries, governmental policies, specific information about local markets and applicable regulations, economic trends, and other matters. In addition, a broker may accumulate credits for an Adviser’s account and use them to purchase brokerage and research services at the Adviser’s discretion and based on the Adviser’s determination of the relative benefits of the various services available for purchase. These arrangements are commonly known as “commission sharing arrangements.” Accordingly, an Adviser’s clients may be deemed to be paying for research and these other services with “soft” or commission dollars. Research furnished by brokers or dealers or pursuant to credits accumulated at brokers or dealers through commission sharing arrangements may be used in servicing any or all of the Advisers’ clients and may be used for client accounts other than those that pay commissions to the broker or dealer providing the research. An Adviser also may receive soft dollar credits based on certain “riskless” principal securities transactions with brokerage firms. With respect to certain products and services used for both research/brokerage and non-research/brokerage purposes, an Adviser generally allocates the costs of such products and services between their research/brokerage and non-research/brokerage uses, and generally uses soft dollars to pay only for the portion allocated to research/brokerage uses. Examples of products and services used for non-research/brokerage purposes (and not paid for with soft dollars) include equipment and exchange data (e.g., quotes, volume). Some of these services may be of value to the Advisers and their related parties in advising various of their clients (including the Funds), although not all of these services are necessarily useful and of value in managing the Funds. The management fee paid by a Fund is not reduced because an Adviser or its related parties receive these services even though the Adviser might otherwise be required to purchase some of these services for cash. An Adviser’s authority to cause a Fund to pay any such greater commissions is also subject to such policies as the Trustees may adopt from time to time.

An Adviser may pay commissions for the purpose of obtaining “brokerage and research services” (as defined for purposes of Section 28(e)) in reliance on Section 28(e) of the 1934 Act. Below is a non-exhaustive list of broker-dealers to whom the Advisers have sent trades or may send trades for the Funds’ accounts during the current fiscal year. In addition to trade execution, these broker-dealers may also provide research services, such as those described above, to the Advisers. Such research is not provided to the Advisers with respect to any specific client of the Advisers or retirement plan product. As a result, the value of brokerage or research services received by the Advisers in connection with the Funds is very difficult to quantify, and there is no formula by which the value of such services could be determined with precision.
